The Epiphany of the Lord

Growing as Disciples of Jesus, Making Disciples For Jesus

Monday, January 8th (The Baptism of the Lord) Reflection

Our starting point in faith, in life is from a place of unconditional love and acceptance by our God, who “shows no partiality.” Not a bad way to begin. So why do we forget that? Why do we always seem to think we are too broken, too difficult, too scarred to be loved by God for who we are? Somehow we imagine God will love us only after we’re fixed, forgetting that the only way out is through.

As we close out the Christmas season and head back into Ordinary Time, we are called to carry with us what we began these past few weeks, but it’s not so easy or simple. The special seasons call us to shift our focus onto God, but everyday life can get in the way of that. It overwhelms us and tells us to do too many things at once, to fill up the pauses with things that seem more productive.

We know better now.

The pauses are where life with God begins. Like the rests in a symphony that keep the music from becoming a mish-mash of sound, the pauses shape our days and our journey, if we’re willing to be countercultural.

Dorothy Day once said, “The greatest challenge of the day is: how to bring about a revolution of the heart, a revolution which has to start with each one of us?”
Are you willing to start a revolution, even if you’re the only one participating?
That’s how transformation begins, one by one, heart by heart. There’s nothing ordinary about that.

As we move away from the glow of the holiday season back toward life in the “real” world, without the tinsel and ribbons, it can be easy to backslide to our pre-Advent attitudes, rushing without pausing, working without resting, talking without listening. As you go through your days, try to check in with God at least twice a day—once upon waking and once before sleeping. It doesn’t have to take long, it doesn’t have to be elaborate, it doesn’t even have to have words. Just breathe in and out and let the Spirit do the rest.

All-loving God, we thank you and praise you for the many gifts and blessings you have given us, for your mercy and love, for your unshakable presence in our lives. God, you are GREAT, all the time!

As we begin a new semester of learning

Let us pause to thank and pray for all those students and teachers for a successful conclusion to the school year!

Reflecting On Sunday's Readings

Have you ever experienced an epiphany – a moment of profound insight? This week we celebrate the Epiphany of the Lord, not a moment of profound insight for him, but a moment of profound insight about him. Specifically, we are celebrating the manifestation of Christ to the Magi. To enter more fully into the significance of this event we must enter into the heart and mind of the Jewish faithful. For thousands of years Israel had been set apart as God's special people, unique from all the other nations of the world. God chose to manifest himself in a unique way to Israel through both words and miraculous deeds of deliverance. It was with Israel that God established a special covenant, and to them that God promised a future, glorious Savior-King and an everlasting, glorious reign. What a wonderful heritage, one which left the Israelites with expectancy as they awaited its fulfillment. And then it happened! The Savior-King is born, not in a regal setting but in humble surroundings. One would think that surely the renowned of Israel would be beckoned to welcome his arrival and pay him homage as Christ and King. But it wasn't so. Instead, the angels announced his arrival to the most lowly of Israel, common shepherds, and to the Magi, non-Jewish kings/wise men from the orient. Was this a mistake on the heralds' part? Obviously not, rather it was an epiphany, a moment of profound insight symbolically provided by a loving Father. When the Father chose to make Jesus, the Messiah-King's arrival known to these two groups, shepherds and kings, he symbolically included all humanity in this saving act, both Jews and Gentiles. That favorite verse many of us have memorized, "God so loved the world that He gave His only Son," reminds us that he was a gift for the world's salvation. That Jesus is savior of all mankind and savior for all mankind is the profound insight, the epiphany, brought by the Magi's experience. With hindsight we can now go back and reread the promises of God and see salted throughout the Old Testament, references to the "nations," the Gentiles. It was always God's intention to reach the nations through the covenant and promises given to Israel. God's intention always was to bring salvation to all mankind, and this profound insight is included in the Epiphany of the Lord. Will it also be an epiphany for you? Will it be a moment of profound insight wherein you realize that Jesus is not exclusively for you, but for all? His intentions remain the same, to bring salvation to all mankind, only now his plan includes us, the Church, as his primary messenger. Will this be a time of insight when you embrace your responsibility to help take the Good News to the nations? Paul grasped this profound insight in the second reading, and because of it says in the very next verse, "Of this gospel I have become a servant according to the gift of God's grace." May God enable us to follow Paul's example by grasping this profound insight and making this profound commitment of surrender. "The great feast of Epiphany celebrates the adoration of Jesus by the wise men (magi) from the East... In the magi, representatives of the neighboring pagan religions, the Gospel sees the first-fruits of the nations, who welcome the good news of salvation through the Incarnation. The magi's coming to Jerusalem in order to pay homage to the king of the Jews shows that they seek in Israel, in the messianic light of the star of David, the one who will be king of the nations. Their coming means that pagans can discover Jesus and worship him as Son of God and Savior of the world only by turning toward the Jews and receiving from them the messianic promise as contained in the Old Testament."* *Catechism of the Catholic Church, (528).
