The Tenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Growing as Disciples of Jesus, Making Disciples For Jesus

ST. BARNABAS, APOSTLE June 11th

Barnabas was first called Joseph. He left his native island of Cyprus and became a Christian, perhaps on Pentecost. The apostles changed his name to Barnabas, which means "son of encouragement." Barnabas sold his property and gave the money to the Jerusalem community. Gradually other Christians came to see that Barnabas was a man of deep faith, filled with the Holy Spirit. He was the one who reached out to Paul after his conversion. He introduced Paul to the apostles and defended him.

For a while Barnabas and Paul were leaders in the Church at Antioch. Then they returned to Jerusalem.

One day, as the Church leaders there prayed and fasted, they came to see that Barnabas and Paul were to be set apart by the Holy Spirit for special missionary work. Their first mission was to Cyprus, where they welcomed many converts into the Church. Then they sailed north to the city of Lystra. There Paul cured a crippled man, and the astonished people declared Barnabas and Paul to be gods in disguise. When the two explained that they were only men who came to teach about the living God, the crowd turned against them.

In every place where they established a Christian community, Barnabas and Paul appointed leaders for it. Eventually the two separated. Barnabas took his cousin, the disciple John Mark to Cyprus, while Paul set out on another journey. Christian tradition tells us that Barnabas was stoned to death and that a handwritten copy of St. Matthew's Gospel was found clasped to his heart. Pictures of Barnabas often show him carrying the Scriptures.

St. Barnabas, pray for us!

Reflecting On Sunday's Readings

This Sunday's Readings may reveal the dilemma of the ages that all people face, how to answer the questions; "Who is this man Jesus?" and "What should we believe regarding him?". In the first reading we observe Satan's temptation of Adam and Eve and their dilemma would they believe God who created all things for their good and spoke personally warn them not to eat of the Tree of Life, or Satan, the serpent, who had done nothing for them and conversely called into question the validity of God's word and warning. Unfortunately, it was at that point that their desire for self-rule influenced their decision to not believe God, but to believe Satan, and they disobeyed. In the second reading St. Paul encourages them to persevere (continue on believing) and to not doubt and lose heart in the face of affliction. Previously they believed, they spoke openly of their belief, and now they were suffering and dealing with affliction and the deterioration of their outward body, would they continue to believe? In the Gospel reading the crowd was in turmoil asking who Jesus was, and where did he get these powers. What are they to believe? Jesus patiently continues to teach them and when Mary, his mother appears, he clarifies that "he who does the will of God," these are my mother and brothers. He connects for them the issue that Adam and Eve missed, so that they would not miss it; believing is not an exercise in intellectual gymnastics, but rather believing is doing what God wills. Theologian Henri de Lubac explains it for us this way: "The Latin verb credo (presumably derived from cor do = 'I give my heart.') can be understood in three ways: (1) Credo Deum esse = 'I believe that God exists'; (2) Credo Deo = 'I believe God', 'I entrust myself to him'; a third way is the specifically Christian mode that comes from biblical usage: (3) Credo in Deum = 'I believe in God', 'I believe unto God.' Behind this last formula is the Hebrew idea of faith as the state of being anchored in God, of being moored securely in God, as it then says in the Gospel of John: 'Let not your hearts be troubled, believe in God, believe also in me' (Jn 14:1). To believe in God means to acknowledge him, to do him homage, to worship him, to commend oneself and one's entire life to him, to believe unto him, [as one's destination] in the unity of faith, hope and love." To believe is a life-long growing experience. These passages of Scripture and this quote by Henri de Lubac are worth our continued consideration, and it is important to pray and ask God as the apostle Thomas did, "Lord I believe, help Thou my unbelief."
